

Don't Wake the Librarian!

Sorting Books By Genre

Shhh! The librarian has fallen asleep, but you still have books to return! To play, attach the two game board pages together and select a playing piece.

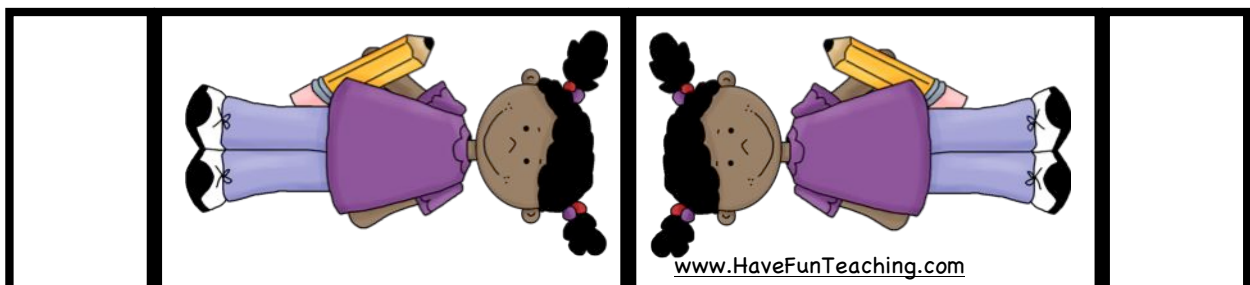

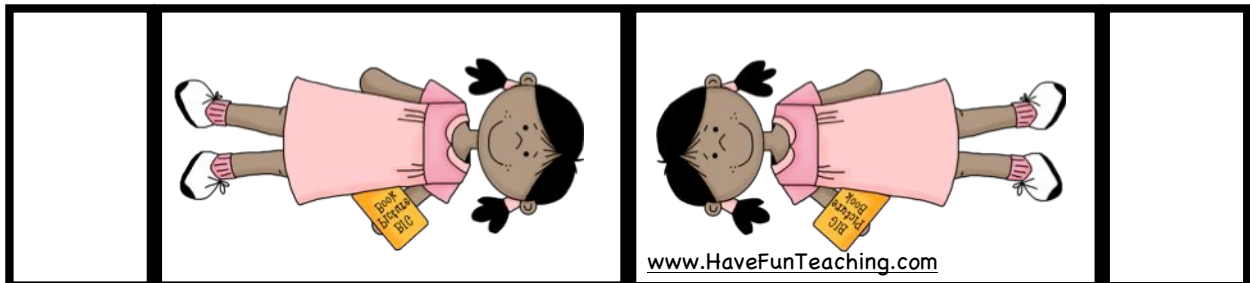

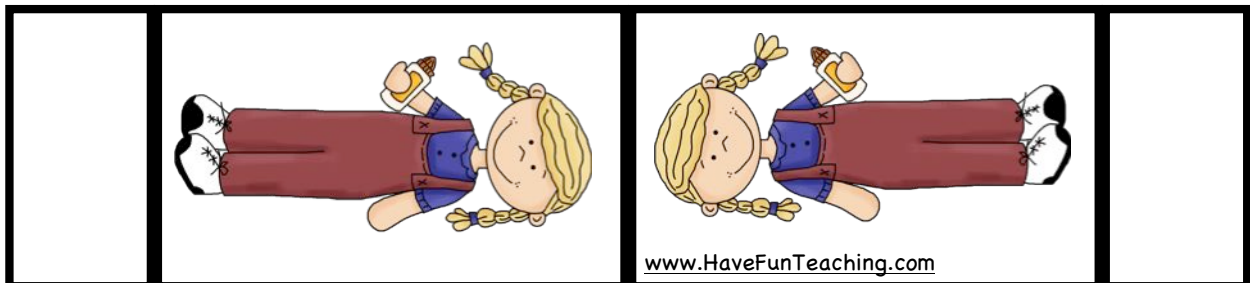

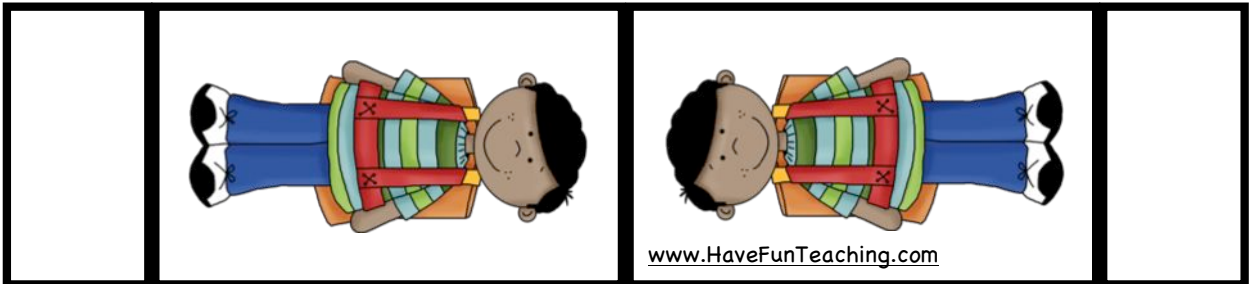

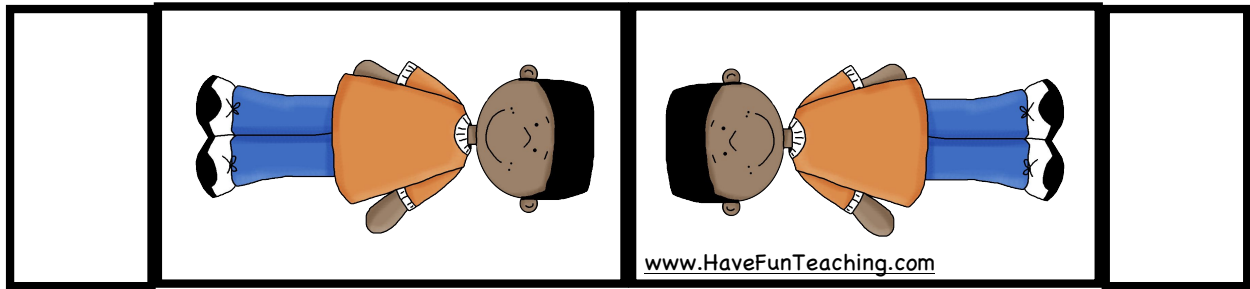

The object of the game is to return all of your books to their correct genre shelf, without waking the librarian. Spin a die and move that many spaces. If the space is brown, you may return one of your books to its shelf. If the space is red, pick up a red call card. Be careful, don't make any loud noises or you may wake the librarian! If you wake her, you must return to the first square!

The first player to return all of their books to the correct shelf is the winner!

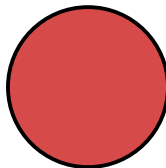

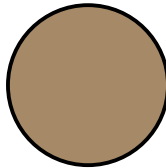

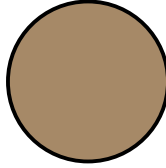

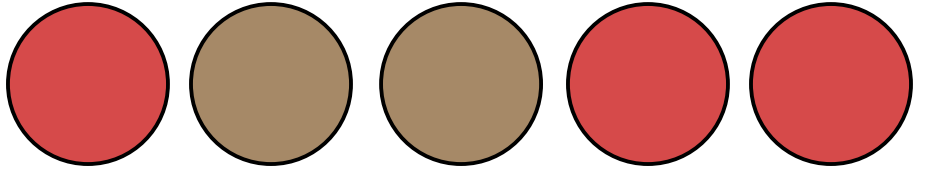

Playing Pieces

Fold in half on the center line. Then, fold the bottom tabs outward.
